It Takes A Lot of Heart

The relentless gut punches of 2020 have certainly taken a toll on us. But we're learning something about ourselves and about our hearts.

Eight & 322 was born out of the coronavirus pandemic and, after plowing forward for several months, we had to take a short break to retool a few things and begin lining up the next phase. The support you are showing for this venture is amazing. We're truly looking forward to getting more focused and serving the people of the Oil Region.

The past few weeks have been spent on some upgrades to the website and the purchase of software needed to develop something that can be held in your hand to read, train your puppy on or wrap some dishes to move your kid into their new apartment.

This week it was good to return to some storytelling and focus on the true heart of the community — hardworking residents who support one another. The Franklin Chamber of Commerce had to retool and rethink Applefest this year without the craft show that typically draws thousands of people downtown each October. At the same time, Franklin Rotary Club partnered with the owners of Buffalo Street Lanes to create a colorful Heart of Franklin mural and support more than 100 local businesses.

Local Football Action

Oil City met Saegertown and Franklin faced off against Meadville in local athletic action of the International and American sports known as football. Check out the Eight & 322 sports section for more pictures and find photos from an array of high school sports at our Zenfolio account.
