Coming Full Circle

Getting Back to Where it All Started Offers Familiarity and Comfort

It was a great week of story telling for the community and Eight & 322. We were able to finish a few projects that were started several weeks ago and share a moment that was years in the making.

Almost 70 years after he went missing in action in Korea, PFC Harold K. Knight was laid to rest Saturday at Heckathorn Cemetery in Cranberry Township. It was much needed closure for his surviving siblings, who were finally able to bury his remains next to their parents.

It was a season of determination and dedication for the Oil City March Band. The student musicians spent the fall finding alternative places to play after not being permitted to attend football games. We were lucky to attend many of those performances to capture their hard work in action. When they were finally allowed to be on the field for the homecoming game, they were ready.

Long-time radio broadcaster Jim Bodamer and his wife found their way back to Titusville and he found his way back to the broadcast booth, this time on the internet, Bodamer is the voice of The Stream TV play-by-play football for the Titusville Rockets and beyond.

Artist of the month Sue Buck began her career drawing puppies and kittens. The artist has always followed her interests which brought her back to a familiar place.

Like they have done all season, the Oil City High School football team was again dominated on the field, this time defeating visiting Conneaut Area 56-0.

In the next round of the playoffs, the Oilers will take on the winners of the Meadville versus Harborcreek game, slated for Monday night. The time, date and place of OCHS's next contest is yet to be determined.
